

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Some local high schools require students to volunteer at a non-profit organization as part of their graduation requirements. Keisho has limited opportunities for current students to earn community service hours since students are occupied in class while attending Keisho. Unfortunately, our insurance policy and agreement with Norwood School does not allow us to host volunteers under age 18 who are not current Keisho students.

One opportunity for current Keisho students to earn community service hours is by volunteering at Keisho's arts and culture tent at Sakura Matsuri. Any Keisho student who wishes to earn community service hours at this event is welcome to do so, however the student must bring the paperwork from his/her school so that Keisho can be pre-approved. High schools do not normally allow NPOs to be approved after the community service has taken place. The documentation process may take several weeks; plan ahead.
